Capable 96 Release

Capable 96 was officially released into the Australian market on 22nd June, 1996. This release was long anticipated by Powerful Practices members and was very warmly welcomed by the Chiropractic Profession. Since release, a substantial number of enhancements have been completed and multi-professional clinics are finding Capable the most powerful clinic management tool available. With pricing below half the cost of the nearest competitor's product, Capable is the only sensible choice for forward thinking practitioners.

The philosophy adopted by Capable seems to have been intrinsic in its success to date. The application of a To Do List is simple and effective. Time management experts evangelise about the benefits of To Do Lists (eg Covey) and yet, other chiropractic computer software manufacturers are content to ignore this simple principle of good personal and business management.

Enhancements

Since June, some remarkable improvements have been added to Capable. Here is a few of those enhancements:

- Capable has been enhanced to use your Windows 95 Regional settings for dates and currency automatically.
- We've added the ability to make block-outs in the appointment book. This makes it easier to prevent accidental appointments whilst the doctor is unavailable.
- We've added utilities to import patient data from our competitor's packages.
- We added a feature to allow staff to log in and log out - making timesheets a simple task.
- We've added special features to cope with New Zealand's ACC Health Care system. This includes the printing of complex statements for ACC as well as important clinic reports.
- We added a patient notes feature that allows your CA to record freehand notes against any patient's file.
- We added a banking slip which prints cheques that have been received as well as cash, credit card and EFT banking.

CAPABLE FOCUSES ON THE PEOPLE RATHER THAN THE TECHNOLOGY

- We've also added features to support products sold by clinics. This allows invoicing of any products sold regardless of whether the patient is booked for a visit or not. Capable also retains the patient's purchase history for future reference even if they're not a patient when they buy the goods.
- We've added a feature for debt control of old debts. This encourages the practitioner responsible for the old debt to work with their patients to keep the outstanding accounts to a minimum.

In addition to these advantages, a number of small problems have been corrected and many small enhancements have been coded to make the software easier and friendlier for users.

The Internet dazzles

Users are finding it incredibly easy to download the latest version of Capable from the internet on a weekly basis. New versions of Capable spring up onto the internet twice weekly and users have been quick to take advantage of this convenient facility. Our statistics indicate that the Capable Internet Home Page has already been visited by clients and other members of the cyber-community over a thousand times.
